

Agmeteorology 2012 Science and Practice

29 February 2012 2.00 – 5.30 pm

Conference Room

Department of the Environment, Community and Local Government, Custom House, Dublin 1

Final Programme:

1.45–2.00: Registration and welcome

2.00–2.05: Opening remarks

Liam Campbell, Director, Met Éireann

2.05–2.25: New insights into acidic deposition and nutrient loading

Dr. Thomas Cummins and Dr. Julian Aherne,

University College Dublin, Trent University, Canada

2.25 – 3.00: Weather forecasting today - communication to agriculture

Gerry Murphy, Meteorologist and TV Weather
Forecaster, Met Éireann

3.00–3.55: Short research presentations

3.55 – 4.05: Break

4.05–4.25: Climate change and its likely impact on agriculture

Prof. James I. Burke, University College Dublin

4.25–4.35: Austin Bourke silver medal presentation

Tom Keane, Founding member of AGMET

4.35–4.55: Greenhouse gas mitigation – implications for agriculture

Prof. Christoph Müller, Justus Liebig University, Germany & University College Dublin

4.55–5.25: Panel discussion: Agmeteorology – Science and Practice

5.25–5.30: Closing remarks – Dr. Tamara Hochstrasser, University College Dublin

Lunch from 12.30 pm in Custom House Canteen – Euro 10.00 – 2 courses self-service, reserved seating

For registration and additional information contact: tamara.hochstrasser@ucd.ie

